

Water Collection and Disposal Process

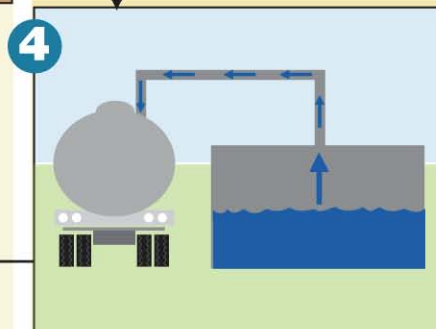

Water moves through a cement kiln dust pile.

Water is captured in collection lines installed on beach.

Water is pumped from collection lines to storage tanks on site.

Water is treated on site to lower pH and allow for safe shipping by truck.

Loaded truck travels to deep injection well. Truck transfers liquid into storage tanks before injection into well.

